DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 21, 25, and 26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claims 21, 25, "said field-of-view" lacks proper antecedent basis.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-25, 27-31, 38-51 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yasukawa et al. (4,736,436).

Yasukawa discloses all the features of the instant invention (note col. 12, lines 26, to col. 16, line 37) except a control input for receiving a signal representing a selection of a portion of the image. In any event, using input means to selectively modify a portion of an image in a memory is notoriously well known in the art. Such input means, such as joysticks, computer mouse, or keyboards, enable a user to manipulate the image readily and conveniently. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention was made to include a control input into Yasukawa so that the image can be selectively modified.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claim 26 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-31, 38-51 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
